

be free from that greasiness and "richness" so distressing to dyspeptics; the flavor will be delicious instead of rancid, and your food will do you good. Put it in a cold pan, heating it with the pan. Cottolene reaches the cooking point much quicker than lard—care should therefore be taken not to overheat it. Follow these instructions—you will never, use lard again.

Genuine Cottolene has trade-marks—"Cottolene" and steer's head in cotton-plant wreath—on every tin.

North American Review

ALWAYS CONTAINS

The Right Topics,

By the Right Men.

THE TOPICS are always those which are uppermost in the public mind-in religion, morals, politics, science, literature, business, finance, industrial economy, social and municipal affairs, etc .- in short, all subjects on which Americans require and desire to be informed. No magazine follows so closely from month to month the course of public interest. All subjects are treated of impartally on both sides.

THE CONTRIBUTORS to the REVIEW are the men and women to whom the world looks for the most authoritative statements on the subjects of the day. No other periodical can point to such a succession of brilliant writers.

Among special features of extraordinary importance which the North Ameri CAN REVIEW has in preparation for 1895 is a series of articles by the Rt. Hon.

W. E. GLADSTONE

THE FUTURE STATE,

and the Condition of Man in it.

The series will begin in the January number.

TYPICAL EXTRACTS FROM THE VERDICT OF THE PRESS.

Ahead of any magazine this country has ever seen in the importance of the topics discussed and the eminence of its contributors.—Albany Argus.

No other magazine in the world so fully and fairly presents the opinions of the leading writers and thinkers on all questions of public interest.

—Boston Journal.

It is always abreast of the world.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Not only the oldest but the best of our Reviews. Rochester Post-Express.

Cannot be ignored by the reader who keeps along with current discussion.—Indianapolis Journal.

Continues to grow in interest. Its discussions of topics of present concern are marked by ability of the highest order, the most eminent representatives on both sides being chosen to expound their theories.—St. Paul (Minn.) Globe.

Numbers among its writers a larger list of men and women distinguished in the religious, literary and political world than any other periodical of the kind. It should find a place in every household.—Ellendale (N. D.) Leader.

A CHICAGO CHANSONNETTE.

They stood at the door. He was saying goodby. There were tears in her voice and a groan in each eye, For he'd asked her again if she always would

"Oh, Percy," she cried, with a cadence of woe, "It is cruel of you to keep doubting me so. I have told you again and again that my heart Is to weed ded to thine that if you were to part The thread of affection that binds you to me My grief would undam such a turbulent sea Of pitying tears to encompass me round Until in the hot, briny flood I'd be drowned.

"Do you then think so ill if your little Marie? Do you think for a moment I ever could be So forgetful of all my teachings in youth As to utter or even to think an untruth?"

She paused. There was silence. And then the still air Was jarred by a voice from the head of the stair.

"Twas the voice of her father but fresh from his bed.
"What time is it, Mary?" in harsh tones it said. Her pure, girlish eyes, full of filial love, were turned from the clock to the darkness

"Father, dear, it is scarcely five minutes pust ten," ten,"

She remarks. The floor creaks. There is allonce again.
But a moment it lasts and again is undone,
This time by the clock in the hall striking one.

The Utility of Newness

"Dey tells me," said Aunt Dinah, pausing in the dining room door and resting her hands on her hips "dey tells me dat de wimmin is had a meetin goin on whar dey dis speechifys same as de men. Is dat so?"

Her mistress laid down the paper in which she was reading the reports of some of the brilliant papers delivered before the Association For the Advancement of Women and tried to explain matters to her.

"Dey des got up on de platform, did dey," asked the old woman, "an speak right out in meetin?"

She was assured they did.
"An dey kin talk back?"

She was informed that was their privilege.

"Bless Gord I done live to see dis day!" she replied fervently. "I lay I'll dis git Brer Jones at de meetin dis very night. De odder night I felt called on to zort sinners an he say: 'Set down, Sis' Dinahr. De wimmin must keep silence in de chu'ch. Dey's de weaker vessel.' I was hot, an I 'spon': 'Ef dey wa'nt no wimmin in de chu'ches, Brer Jones, whar would de chu'ch be? Who pays de preacher? Whar you get dat fine coat on yo' back? Ain't it de Daughters of Zion done raise de money? Don't seem lak I hear nobody complainin 'bout wimmin in de chu'ch when it comes to passin

The poet mused. In addition, he racked his brain. 'Twas with one of those patent racks, but never mind that.

"If I could only think of a rhyme!" he muttered, with poised pen ready to dash upon the smooth white demirep that glistened helplessly in the candle light.

Oh, I love to see the tiger On the Kongo or the Niger.

"No, no!" he broke off hoarsely. "That has been done before. Let me see. Tiger—liger, miger, piger, quiger, riger, siger—ah, I have it!" And the pen dashed like lightning upon its prey, and it was but the work of a moment to perpetrate the following outrage upon society, after which the poet rested, the perspiration streaming from every pore.

He had written: Oh, I love to see the tiger Smoke a cigarette or cigar.

"You don't seem to have made much money by bringing your hogs down here," remarked a stage driver to a Connecticut farmer who had driven his hogs seven miles to town and then sold them for precisely what was offered to him before he left home.

"Well, no," replied the agriculturist dejectedly. "I ain't made no money, but then, you know," and his face brightened up as he spoke, "I had the company of the hogs on the way down.' -Golden Dava.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

New York Stock Market.

New York, Dec. 16.—The dealings in stock exchange securities to-day were fairly active. Although the proponderence of activity was as usual in the industrials shares the transactions in the railway stocks assumed larger proportions than for some time past. Strength characterized the movement in this department. The anticipation of a plan of reorganization of the Reading system was advanced as one explanatory bull argument. It was urged that the powerful interests back of the plan would not permit its publication to fall flat. The plan was, as expected, published at the close of the market. Secretary Carliale was found to have detracted from its importance in a speculative sense. The opening was rather irregular and fairly active. A strong tendency in railroads was apparent in the initial dealings and was practically unimpaired throughout the day. The industrials moved in a rather erratio fashion. Tobacco reacted 1%, declined 3% to 73%, improved to 74% and closed at 74, a new decline of 3% per cent. The market closed active and strong and at best figures of the day.
